Mayor Miller said we have an opinion from our City Attorney about what the consequences are for Council and I concur.

Item 24, continued:

Mr. Jeff Bryant, City Attorney, says Roberts Rules says if the Council moves forward and votes on the package the way the motion is currently made which is a Motion to Reject, they that will dispose of that particular motion and that particular issue before the body. Under Chapter 10, Renewal of Motions – Dilatory and Proper Motions, it specifically describes that you cannot bring up the same issue before the body unless you do a motion to reconsider. If there is no motion to reconsider, then that would preclude you from making a motion to adopt all six as a package in this particular session. That would be considered a dilatory motion so you could not approach it that way; however, Roberts Rules also provides that the parts of that motion could be considered individually or in different groupings of the body along as those groupings would present to the body a different issue than what they had previously disposed of. He said Council could go back and vote on each one of the amendments individually or in different groupings groupings such as 2 by 2 by 2, just so the body is not asking the body to vote on the very same item that they had already disposed of.

Mayor Miller asked if this applied regardless of whether Council votes to reject or not to reject?

Mr. Bryant said that is correct. The issue is “What was the issue placed before the body?” The issue that is placed before the body even with a motion and second to reject is whether or not to approve these six as a package.

MISCELLANEOUS DISCUSSION

Affordable Housing in Center City. Ms. Mark Campbell, 517 North University Boulevard, said many have said that the cost of lots and property taxes will go up under the Center City Form Based Code. He said he went to many of the meetings and many wanted more housing, but there was no provision for affordable housing.

Councilmember Holman said affordable housing is one of his biggest concerns. He said many people are being driven out of this area under the existing zoning and he hopes that Center City will allow more density and housing options that will lead to lower rents. He said the affordable housing issue should be worked on while Council is working on the Tax Increment Finance District (TIF) for Center City.

*

VisitNorman Comments. Ms. Deb Clark, 2134 Summer Drive, apologized for her comments earlier regarding VisitNorman. She said she was addressing a budget concern that there is a formalized coordinated comprehensive calendar that visitors can see and make judgment as to whether or not they will come to Norman based on all of the events that happen because there are many events that are not on that calendar.
