Council will be revisiting these items in the Study Session on November 4th and will be postponed until November 10th. She said this will still allow the community to hold the Special Election in January which fits the deadlines required by the State and County for filing. She said there is a perception by some in the community that the proposed rate structure has certain unfairness by imposing more burden on households in the lower consumption brackets of the rate structure than on the higher consumption brackets and secondly by imposing the cost of new wells needed for future capacity on current rate payers. The modifications would allocate only the cost of replacement wells and existing supply needs to ratepayers. She said staff is recalculating those rate brackets to lower the proposed rates to the benefit of the lowest two water rate tiers which covers approximately 90% of customers. She said also the cost of new wells solely attributable to future growth will be covered by the proposed increase in water connection fees. She said Council was also asked at a recent study session to consider a fifth rate tier for the highest residential water consumers in order to encourage conservation and greater fairness. She said there were concerns raised about some of the unintentional consequences and a higher usage surcharges was suggested as an alternative and staff is adding this to the amendments. This would be applied only during periods of peak demand on our system which are the summer months and the months when we purchase water from Oklahoma City and it would impose a fee or surcharge on fewer than 5% of our residential customers. That fee, however, is intended to compensate for some of the system peaking stress that occurs and to encourage further conservation by our largest residential consumers. She said staff has assured her that the additional time delay will allow us to identify and accommodate some of the unintended consequences and not impose this high use surcharge on residential customers who are responsible and conservative water users. She said Council and staff appreciate the input that citizens have given in recent weeks and also appreciate their patience as details are finalized for this very important election that is critical to our water supply, safety, and quality.

MISCELLANEOUS DISCUSSION

Water Rate Election. Ms. Joy Hampton, the Norman Transcript, 215 East Comanche Street, asked what the cost would be for the water rate election when there are no other items currently scheduled for the January 15th election date. Ms. Brenda Hall, City Clerk, said the cost for a single proposition on the ballot would be approximately $35,000. Ms. Hampton asked what the price would have been if there had been other propositions on the ballot and why Council had decided to put it on a ballot by itself. Mayor Rosenthal said two ballots on a City-Wide election would cost approximately $50,000. She said the point made by the Finance Director about the consequences of delaying this ballot would increase the cost of construction $150,000 per month for every month that the vote is delayed, which is first and foremost in the minds of most of the City Councilmembers.

Councilmember Heiple said water is probably the biggest issue this Council will address and civility and decorum is requested.
